

2016 AOZWI BUSINESS WEBINAR SERIES

Zero Waste in the Health Care Sector

Wednesday, June 29th, 2016 from 12:00-1:00 PM

Webinar registration online at:

<https://attendee.gotowebinar.com/register/7274508942750925572>

The Appalachia Ohio Zero Waste Initiative (AOZWI), a partnership in Southeastern Ohio between the Ohio University Voinovich School of Leadership and Public Affairs' Consortium for Energy, Economics & the Environment (CE3) and community organization Rural Action, is pleased to offer a series of zero waste webinars to explore how different industries are implementing waste minimization and waste diversion practices. Join us on June 29 as we explore zero waste concepts and learn more about zero waste best practices in the health care industry. Our experts will discuss a range of issues including cross-sector synergies and byproduct reuse, implementing a facility-wide zero waste program, and repurposing discarded medical supplies and equipment. Space is limited, register today!

- Britta Harman, Director of Business Operations, MedWish International
- Mike Long, President, Resource100 LTD, Network Leader, Ohio By-Product Synergy Network and Member, Mount Carmel Health System "Green Team"
- Sydney Webber, Director of Marketing and Communication, OhioHealth O'Bleness Hospital
 - Moderator: John Glazer, Director, TechGROWTH Ohio

For more information, please visit: www.ohio.edu/ce3/research/waste or contact Elissa Welch, CE3, at 740-537-0112 or welche@ohio.edu.

*The Appalachia Ohio Zero Waste Initiative is funded by the Sugar Bush Foundation, a supporting organization of the Ohio University Foundation.
A special thanks to the Ohio By-Product Synergy Network in their support of the webinars.*

OHIO
UNIVERSITY
Voinovich School of Leadership and Public Affairs

APPALACHIA OHIO

zero

waste
INITIATIVE

 Rural Action